[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] CHICAGO, June 22.—Rudolph Berndt, aged 14, was fatally shot by a detective tonight while imitating Black Hand methods.

He died later in a hospital, after having been kissed and forgiven, at his request, by H. E. Grossfeldt, a wealthy grocer, his intended victim.

Mr. Grossfeldt was commanded, in a letter signed "The Black Hand," to bring $15,000 to a certain street corner. He went there tonight after detectives had hidden in the vicinity.

Young Berndt ran out to meet him, took the package of supposed money and was running away when Detective Weinrich shot him down.

panic reigns in Russian governmental circles, high and low.

The Csar contemplates extended political journeyings this summer because he is acutely alarmed. All St. Petersburg is asking anxiously what concessions the Kaiser has extorted from the frightened Nicholas. The latter knows that Austria and Japan have formed an alliance, whereby a Russian attack on Austria would be followed by a Japanese attack on Viadivostok and other Muscovite interests in the Far East. He also knows that Roumania has entered into an alliance with Austria, hostile to Russia.

The dutlook so alarms the Csar that he is willing to pay a heavy price for peace of mind and the monarch's anxiety is fully shared by the governmental press. The Novoe Vrenya, in a long article advises the sale of Russian Poland to Germany "because it is lost anyway and we might as well get something out of it." The same paper seriously discusses the necessity of dismantling and abandoning the fortresses on the Austro-German frontier of Poland and creating a new line of national defense on Poland's inner

ST. JOSEPH (Mo.) June 23.—An intercepted letter written at the Jefferson City penitentiary and signed William J. Murphy, confesses to several murders committed in St. Joseph by the writer, according to word received here today from the warden. Murphy was sent to the penitentiary at St. Joseph for abusing his daughter. The letter writer says he killed William Mignery, a wealthy St. Joseph contractor, January 1, 1908, and Roy Oden, a butcher, some time previous to that date, and he enumerates other killings for which he claims credit.

His manager arrived in this city yesterday from San Francisco and flashed 3500 in real money, which he wanted to deposit for a match with Ad Wolgast over any distance of ground, the money to go as a side bet.

Hudson is now in San Francisco and his manager has promised to wait until this afternoon to get a definite answer from Manager McCarey as to the chance of putting him on here with some good boy. Wolgast is expected to arrive here this afternoon and when the details of his match with Nelson for July 13 are arranged, then the club can talk business with Hudson. $25.00 for a Loaf of Bread

The Denver Gas and Electric Co. recently offered three prizes for the best three loaves of bread baked by gas in their city. The first prize was $25.00, the second $16.00, and the third $10.00, which have just been awarded. There were 1208 loaves submitted in the centest, making a good sized army of women competitors. Out of the numerous makes of gas ranges used in this contest, it was noticeable that the successful winners all used

GAS RANGES

It took more than half a day to examine the 1209 loaves, but after a painstaking examination they found three loaves on which they could agree; these were regular in shape and beautifully browned. Mrs. George Yates of 1231 W. 21nd ave., was declared the first prise winner. The recipe, of course, was fine, but the result shows what can be done in a Detroit Jewel oven. The baking was simply perfect. The range used was a Detroit Jewel No. 70–13-in., style No. 2, like the one herewith shown. Here is what she says about regulating the firs: "Ten minutes before the time to put it into the oven I turned on the gas in the range, and after it had been on for about 10 minutes, I tested it. It should be hot enough in the oven to turn a plece of writing paper a dark brown in 5 minutes; then I put the bread in and left both burners going for 10 minutes; 5 minutes had elapsed I turned off the rear burner and left the bread in 30 minutes; 5 minutes had elapsed I turned off the rear burner and left the other burner off."

Detroit Jewel gas ranges are especially celebrated for their extra fine baking qualities. One can have the very best recipe, but without they use a range that they can depend on to bake well in a Detroit Jewel; all one has to do is to follow instructions about turning on the gas and a cheap one does as good work as the highest priced—then they cost no more than other makes. While almost every make of gas ranges is sold in Denver, still there are more Detroit Jewels sold there than all other makes combined, because it is the only gas range that successfully competes with their cheap coal fuel in that city, and is consequently recommended by the Denver Gas Co.

OBITUARY.

William Appleby.

RENO (Nev.) June 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] William Appleby, a well-known character in Ansconda and to the old Nevada colony throughout the State, died Monday at St. Anne's Hospital. In the boom days of the Comstock he was the friend and business partner of the bonanza kings and was wealthy, but his riches faded away. With the founding of Virginia City, he appealed to his old friend, Marcus Daly for a job. He got it and one that lasted his life time, for sick or well his pay check was always the same, and for years he has held a sinecure at the smelters. Appleby had reached the age of 50 years.

SPARRING PROVES FATAL

The new trials will begin July s. The new indictment was bused upon evidence given by Isaac Ettelson, a dealer, whose store was partly wrecked by dynamity after he had disregarded a warning that he "must see" Madden or get into trouble over having had electrical work done in his store by non-union men.

He said that he met Boyle and Madden later and Boyle told him that he would have to tear out all the electrical work done in his store by non-union men.

and is the special prize of the alumni. This is the only one of the group that will go into the old building, all the others being set apart for the adornment of the new Science Building. In the latter building, a kneeling figure of Jean of Arc will occupy a pedestal between the two entrances to the Assembly Hall; standing at the left of the stage, just outside the prosenum arch, will be a graceful figure of Jiana, representing the ancient Greek in sculpture before the time of Christ, its companion piece, occupying a like position on the opposite side of the stage, will be an equally graceful figure of Hebe, representing modern sculpture; heroic busts of Washington and Longfellow will occupy commanding positions in the hallway on the second floor. The most elaborate piece is "The Cantoria," by Luca della Robbia, representing singing boys and players upon ancient musical instruments. It is made up of six large panels, having a total length of about twenty-five feet. These will be made up in two sections, one of which will be placed on each side of the stage, above the balcony.

That's why they hold their shape and why we can't sell them for $15.00. The reputation of Alfred Benjamin would not permit of putting out suits that were not all wool, and we could not stand for it, either. You Want the Truth About the .

Piano You Buy

You don't want boom talk and exaggera-tion—a line of argument that would fit any piano. You want facts about the any piano. You want facts about the piano that you are considering. You want to know why the piano is good—not how inferior the other one is; you want the truth. Our salesmen know the pianos we handle and they will tell you what you want to know about them—the truth. The House of Fitzgerald sells pianos on their merits—on quality and price. We know that the price is lower before we mark a piano, and then we write it in plain, bold figures.

In the meantime the Chinese Emperor, Pu-Yi, ontinues to look out on the international situation ith a serenity born of his race and his five years a experience with life.

There appears to be some doubt as to who is our greatest novelist. Not being able to remember any of their names, we find that we must decline to offer an opinion one way or the other.

Next month the rules of Elks' lodges will be suspended so as to permit members visiting Los Angeles to drink the 11 o'clock toast at 6 o'clock or 7 o'clock or any other hour that suits them.

As the Fourth of July approaches, the iconoclasts are again endeavoring to prove that Betsy Ross did not make the first American flag. But she made it, all right, and it has always stayed where it was put.

A lady poet in Massachusetts writes some verses a gentleman, apparently, in which she says: "It hall be a hand on your hand all day, a torch for our feet at night." But the question is, has she proverbial cold feet, herself?

Aristotle said: "A land that spontaneously sprouts beauty in fruits, flowers and women must also produce a glorious fruitage of intellect in man." We dislike to boast about California, but we are compelled to admit that Aristotle is right.

HE HENEY-KISSING EDITORS

Long before any other California paper ever mentioned it, The Times demanded the punishment of Abe Ruef and all the pirates with him. This journal firmly advocated the trial and punishment of every guilty person in that conspiracy—both "higher-ups" and "lower-downs."

The disappointment of The Times was great when it was forced to the conclusion that the work of cleaning up San Francisco had been put into the hands of a bawling sandiotter who began his work by giving freedom to all the Abe Ruef gang and who was making the graft prosecution a cheap political and financial game—to take the most charitable view—by "rough-housing" a millionaire who happened to be in the way.

PRACTICAL POPE.

A PRACTICAL POPE.

A This is a practical age, hence it is eminently fitting that we should have a practical Pope at the head of the world's most wonderful church. People who remember the death of Leo XIII and the choice of his successor will recall that the election of Pius X was unexpected. Since then the unexpected Pope has done unexpected things.

It seems, however, that Pius X always was somewhat different to the popular conception of a priest. We have his own statement, telegraphed a few days ago from Rome to The Times, that he once gave a man a good beating for swearing in his presence. If some athletic followers of His Holiness would emulate his example there would be less profanity on downtown street corners at night.

One of the most remarkable evidences of the practical nature of the Pope has been his recognition of the civil power of Italy. It may be that the shock of finding burglars in the very precincts of the Vatican caused him to overlook the opportunity of setting up his might against that of the Quirinal. It is more likely, however, that the Holy Father, being a man of progressive ideas, decided that as the long arm of the Roman law was at his disposal it would be foolish not to make use of it. As for the question of principle involved, that could take care of itself.

Yet the Pope's action is of world-wide significance. It is enough to make Leo XIII turn in his vault and Pius IX to rise from the dead in dismay. When the temporal power fell the latter established a law court within his boundaries, but the Italian government promptly let it be known that if any one was imprisoned by the Vatican tribunal it would forcibly remove the person.

When Leo XIII became head of the church he declined to appeal to the state courts, but on the other hand he did not use the Vatican tribunal. Consequently he was what an irreverent American would call an easy mark. Several notable frauds diers and constabulary. Perhaps that is what "Gumshoe Bill" desires. He is always on the look-out for cheap advertisement.

THE COMING MUNICIPAL PRIMARY.

THE COMING MUNICIPAL PRIMARY.

A short look ahead reveals the approach of the non-partisan primary nominating election for all city officers. Perhaps, in these days of preparation for the coming of antiered herds, citizens are not watching the political horizon. But they should be, because the forces of selfishness, with designs inimical to municipal peace and progress, are making constant observations and are preparing through organization to do their utmost to perpetuate the recall form of government—to continue the narrow, pharisaical policies of Alexanderism and Lissnerism.

But a great party like the Republican party, a potent influence in national affairs and a powerful agency for the general good in state and city progress, is not to be stilled in its energies and usefulness by the theory that parties must vanish because of the new primary method. It is the dominant party of Los Angeles, and as a part of the army of intelligent voters that has made the greatness of our national government and insured general prosperity, it must be true to its responsibilities and its might and prepare for the municipal contest. It is not put out of business because only two names may go on the ballot for the general election, because it is inevitable that one of those names must be of a broad, progressive, intelligent, stalwart Republican. That very fact alone requires early and thorough party action. Whether the choice be by ante-primary convention or by other authorization, it should be attended to without unnecessary delay.

That nothing has been done is due to the engrossment of the party leaders in their business affairs since the election of President Taft reanimated the whole country. They have been very busy and it was not necessary to distract them until the shadow of the municipal contest told its approach. But the time has come and it is the duty of the Republican party of Los Angeles, the militant, conservative, sensible, dominant party, to take a stand and choose its course and its men.

Abundant reason for

was quiet along the starlit beach and that the fifty Southern California editors there on vacation were sleeping soundly and snorefully in their tents.

Away from the cares of the sanctum and the job office for a few days of play, the conservators of the public conscience south of the Tehachepi well deserve their brief respite from their hard and responsible duties. We trust that they have cut the cables and have resigned themselves to letting the printers' devils at home run the papers as they darn please.

Yet it isn't as easy for our country editors to darn please.

Yet it isn't as easy for our country editors to take vacations now as it used to be. Southern California is no longer a great big cattle range owned by the Lugo family. Instead, it is fast becoming one of the most thickly populated sections of our common country, as you might say, although our country isn't so all-fired common as some people might think it is country isn't so all-fired common as some people might think it is.

But, as we were saying, there's getting to be a lot of people in this neck of the woods, and that forces the editors in the outlying districts to work a whole lot harder in order to go to press promptly on time Thursday or Friday afternoons. In other words, it is not any more anything like a soft snap to hold down a country editor's job anywhere between San Bernardino and Santa Monica.

You see, it is not only that there are more people to hold down a country editor's job anywhere between San Bernardino and Santa Monica.

You see, it is not only that there are more people in the country places than there used to be, but it is also because they are up-to-date people. You go out into our rural towns and you'll find enough going on in any one of them to make your head dizzy. Every kind of a lodge in existence holds meetings in those towns, business is as lively as a cricket, politics is always more or less red hot, the women's clubs have meetings every week, and there's a lot of other things besides.

As far as the social life of the country towns is concerned, it has come to be the same as city life in every respect. The lonely, isolated farmhouses that we knew when we were boys back yonder, and the little, sleepy, deadly dull villages do not exist in California. The rural folks in this part of the nation have telephones and pianos in their houses, they go about in automobiles and ride in trolley cars that pass their very doors.

This state of affairs, therefore, really puts the country editor in quite the same class as his city brother of the craft. He has got to print a sprightly, well-edited paper, get all the news of his neighborhood and get it right, and shave at least every other day.

It is therefore with a feeling of pleasure that we think of our neighbors enjoying themselves down there on the strand, listening to the sad sea waves and planning future betterments

TO ADVERTISE VALLEY.

J. W. Biedsoe, originator of the plan to advertise the San Joaquin alley in Los Angeles, through the medium of stereopticon views and the dispensing of literature in a place to be fitted up by The Los Angeles Times, was in Visalia yesterday, en route to the South from Coalinga and Hanford. He reports that everything looks favorable for the success of his plan, and he hopes to begin his work in a very short time. It was Mr. Bledsoe's intention at first to advertise the six valley counties of Tulare, Kern, Fresno, Merceć, King and Madera, but he reports that Stanislaus now wants to come in, and he will make arrangements to follow out the wishes of the people of time to control of the people of the county. F. L. Platt, a Dinuba newspaper man, has been engaged by Mr. Biedsoe to deliver lectures while he runs the stereopticon. TO ADVERTISE VALLEY.

SOLDIER DONS FULL DRESS TO FACE ACCUSERS.

Accused of Stealing Ivory Rings from Harness Belonging to His Former Employer in Ventura, Pri-vate Makes no Trouble When "Dyked Up" in Full Regimentals.

Contractor Montgomery's harness last August. Marshbanks had been in the employ of the contractor and, knowing the value of the ivory, went into Montgomery's barn one night, cut off all the rings, put them in his suit case and skipped. The suit case was full of the rings, which Marshbanks hold in Santa Ross for $90. Then he enlisted in the army, and because of that his whereabouts became known to the officers, who were looking for him. He admits taking the rings, but says he does not know why he should have committed a theft so unusual. He is sorry, too, because he wants to stay with the army. When he was arrested he insisted on putting on his dress uniform to come to Ventura.

of the California Fig Syrup Co. and the scientific attainments of its chemists have rendered possible the production of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, in all of its recellence, by obtaining the pure medic-nal principles of plants known to act most eneficially and combining them most tillfully, in the right proportions, with a wholesome and refreehing Syrup of California Figs.

As there is only one genuine Syrup
Figs and Elixir of Senna and as the gu uine is manufactured by an origi method known to the California Fig Syr
Co. only, it is always necessary to buy to genuine to get its beneficial effects.

A knowledge of the above facts enables one to decline imitations or to return them if, upon viewing the package, the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. is not found printed on the front thereof.

Ask your doctor how often he prescribes an alcoholic stimulant for children. He will probably say, "Very, very rarely." Ask him how often he prescribes a tonic for them. He will probably answer, "Very, very frequently." Then ask him about Ayer's non-alcoholic Sarsaparilla as a tonic for the young. [.G. Aye. Oc.
